Welding is a fabrication or sculptural process that joins materials, usually metals or thermoplastics, by using high heat to melt the parts together and allowing them to cool causing fusion. Welding is distinct from lower temperature metal-joining techniques such as brazing and soldering, which do not melt the base metal.. In addition to melting the base metal, a filler material is typically ...

STEP 6: Direct Instruction. As tantalising as the argument, 'The next generation of scientists will develop only if we let them think like scientists' is, we have to accept that our pupils are novices. Inquiry-based learning is not as effective as direct instruction, as Paul Kirschner and colleagues have summarised here.. The highest leverage aspects of direct instruction, or explicit ...
